

American Literature - Study Guide
Mr. Reed - 6th Hour

Taylor Blau

January 17, 2015

Contents

1	Vocabulary	5
1.1	Unit 1 . . . . .	5
1.2	Unit 2 . . . . .	6
1.3	Unit 3 . . . . .	6
1.4	Unit 4 . . . . .	7
1.5	Unit 5 . . . . .	8
1.6	Unit 6 . . . . .	8
1.7	Unit 7 . . . . .	9
1.8	Unit 8 . . . . .	10

Chapter 1

Vocabulary

1.1 Unit 1

approbation to express approval or praise assuage to make easier or to calm coalition a combination or union decadence to decline or decay; excessive self-indulgence elicit to draw forth expostulate to attempt to dissuade someone from some course of action by earnest reasoning hackneyed used so often such that it lacks freshness hiatus a gap or opening, a break in something innuendo an indirect reference to something intercede to plead on behalf of someone else jaded wearied, worn-out (due to excessive self-indulgence) lurid causing shock, horror meritorious worthy, deserving of praise petulant peevish, annoyed by small things perogative a right or privilege provincial pertaining to an outlying area simulate to make a pretense of, to show the outer signs of transcend to rise above or beyond something umbrage shade cast by trees unctuous very smooth, smug

1.2 Unit 2

ameliorate to improve or make better aplomb poise, assurance, great self-confidence bombastic pompous or overblown callow without experience, immature drivel saliva, mucus flowing from the mouth; aimless talk (nonsense); to let saliva from the mouth; to speak aimlessly epitome a summary, an instance that represents a larger reality exhort to urge strongly ex officio by virtue of holding a certain office infringe to violate or trespass ingratiate to make oneself agreeable in order to gain favor of others interloper one who moves in where he or she is not wanted intrinsic belonging to something by its very nature inveigh to make a violent attack in words; to express strong opinion lassitude a weariness of body or mind millenium a period of 1,000 years occult something not detectable by ordinary means; matters involving the super-natural; to conceal permeate to spread through percipitate to fall as moisture; moisture stringent strict, severe surmise to think or believe without evidence

1.3 Unit 3

abominate to hate acculturation the modification of social patterns to best fit a group adventitious resulting from chance ascribe to assign or refer to; to give credit to someone circuitous roundabout, not direct commiserate to sympathize with enjoin to direct or order expedite to cause to progress faster expiate to make amends ferment a state of great excitement; to be in or work to such a state; to produce alcohol by chemical action inadvertent resulting from a lack of attention nominal too small to be considered noncommittal not definite peculate embezzle proclivity a natural tendency towards some behaviour sangfroid composure, especially in dire situations tenuous thin, unclear vitriolic bitter, caustic, biting wheedle to perform flattery for one's own gain

1.4 Unit 4

affable easy to speak to aggrandize to increase in greatness, or power amorphous shapeless, without definite form aura that which surrounds (ex. as an atmosphere) contraband illegal traffic, smuggled goods erudite scholarly gossamer thin, light infer to find out by reasoning inscrutable not able to be understood insular isolated in a view upon something irrevocable not able to be changed propensity naturally bent towards something, proclivity querulous complaining remonstrate to protest against repudiate to disown or reject reverberate to echo scurrikous one who is foul-mouthed sedulous showing determination sleazy cheap; inferior in quality

1.5 Unit 5

amnesty a general pardon for an offense, typically against a government entity autonomy self-government axiomatic self-evident blazon to adorn or embellish caveat a warning or caution to prevent misunderstanding or discourage behavior equitable fair, just; the principals of justice extricate to free from entanglements or difficulties filch to steal in a subtle fashion and of petty amounts flout to mock; to treat with contempt fractious tending to be troublesome precept a rule of conduct or action salutary beneficial, helpful scathing bitterly severe scourge to whip or punish severely sepulchral funeral, typical of the tomb soporific tending to cause sleep straitlaced extremely strict in regard to moral standards of conduct transient lasting for a short time unwieldy not carried, handled, or managed easily vapid dull, uninteresting, tiresome

1.6 Unit 6

anomalous departing from the usual aspersion a damaging or derogatory statement bizarre very strange, atypical brusque blunt, with no formalities cajole to persuade someone through flattery to do something castigate to punish severely contrive to plan with ingenuity demagogue a leader who exploits popular prejudices to gain power disabuse to free from deception ennui weariness or dissatisfaction from lack of interest fetter a chain or shackle placed on the feet; to render helpless or impotent heinous very wicked or offensive immutable not subject to change insurgent one who rebels or rises against authority megalomania a delusion marked by a feeling of power sinecure a position requiring little effort, an easy job surreptitious secret, intended to subvert observation transgress to go beyond a limit or boundary transmute to change from one nature into another vicarious preformed or experienced by one person in place of another

1.7 Unit 7

austere severe or stern in manner beneficent performing acts of kindness or charity cadaverous pale, resembling a corpse concoct to prepare by combining ingredients crass coarse, unfeeling debase to lower in character desecrate to commit sacrilege upon, to pollute disconcert to confuse, to disturb the composure of grandiose grand in an impressive way inconsequential trifling, unimportant infraction a breaking of the law mitigate to make milder or softer pillage to rob of goods prate to talk a great deal in a foolish fashion punctilious very careful and exact redoubtable inspiring fear or awe reprove to find fault with restitution the act of restoring faith or otherwise to something stalwart strong or sturdy vulnerable open to attack, capable of being wounded

1.8 Unit 8

acrimonious stinging bitter in tone bovine resembling a cow or ox consternation dismay, confusion corpulent fat, having a large body disavow to deny responsibility for, or have a connection with dispassionate impartial, calm, free from emotion dissent a disagreement, a sharp difference of opinion dissipate to cause to disappear expurgate to remove objectionable passages or words from a text; to cleanse, to purify gauntlet an armored or protective glove; a challenge hypothetical based on assumption or guess ignoble mean, low, base impugn to call into question intemperate immoderate, lacking in self-control odium hatred, contempt perfidy faithlessness, treachery relegate to place in a lower position squeamish inclined towards nausea, easily shocked or upset subservient subordinate in capacity or role susceptible open to, easily influenced, a lack of resistance